WE NOMINATE

Hugh Stott Taylor who at age 71 — a time of life when men are customarily willing to rest on their laurels — continues to receive highly merited accolades for his contributions to the forward movement of education and science. This past week as New York City's Rockefeller Institute, the nation's only exclusively graduate university, observed the 60th anniversary of its founding, Taylor, a Princetonian for some 47 years, was one of the two scientist-educators singled out for the distinction of an Honorary Doctor of Science degree.

The presentation came within days of marking the third anniversary of Taylor's "retirement" from the Princeton University Faculty and his election to the presidency of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, the Princeton-based, $24,500,000 foundation brought into being by the Ford Foundation to help solve one of the nation's most acute problems — the shortage of college teachers. It was in June, 1958, that Taylor, the fourth distinguished educator to serve as dean of the Princeton Graduate School, became responsible for directing what has been described as the most extensive, and intensive, talent search in the history of American higher education.

Internationally known for his achievements in the field of physical chemistry, and frequently sought as a consultant by both government and industry, Taylor has succeeded in compressing several "careers" into his decades in education and science. While carrying forward his most original and stimulative research he completed a quarter-century as chairman of Princeton's Department of Chemistry. In his 13 years as "Graduate Dean" the University nearly trebled its graduate enrollment, extended its Ph.D. programs into nine new areas of study, and laid the groundwork for the massive recruitment campaign now being sustained by the Wilson Fellowship Foundation.

The development of the Wilson Fellowships, the brain-child of Princetonian Whitney Jennings Oates, has been closely linked with Taylor's years as administrator. In 1945, his inaugural year as Dean, Princeton awarded exactly four fellowships in seeking to encourage World War II veterans to consider the profession of teaching through an expense-free year of graduate study. The program was gradually expanded on a nationwide basis, with Taylor serving as first chairman of the sponsoring committee of the American Association of Graduate Schools. This Spring 11,000 young men and women were "nominated" for some 1,200 Wilson grants!

The English-born Taylor, a major factor in the development of the atomic bomb and a past president of both the Society of Sigma Xi and the Faraday Society (the world's premier society of physical chemists), has clung tenaciously to his British citizenship since coming here in 1914 for what he thought would be a "brief visit". In the spring of 1953, shortly after he had presided over the Faraday Society's Golden Jubilee in London, he appeared on Queen Elizabeth's Coronation Honors List as Knight Commander of the Order of the British Empire. Five days earlier he had been similarly honored by Pope Pius XII in recognition of his accomplishments as president of Pax Romana.

For combining the points of view of the humanist and the scientist and thereby earning this citation, "man of science, man of liberal learning, man of affairs, man of faith"; for his dedication to the on-going development of graduate education in these United States; he returns to TOWN TOPICS' cover as our nominee for

FORMER MAYOR SPEAKS

On Urban Renewal. In a public letter addressed to Martin L. Beck, chairman of the Borough Planning Board, former mayor Minot C. Morgan, Jr. urges Mr Beck and the Board to send Borough Council a "no" recommendation on blight in view of what Mr. Morgan refers to as the "inconclusive" nature of the 4-3 Planning Board vote designating the Witherspoon-John-Hulfish-Green area as "blighted".

"There are a number of things wrong with the position of the Planning Board if it decides to recommend "blight" on the basis of the present 4-3 vote of the membership, Mr. Miller's legal opinion notwithstanding," states Mr. Morgan.

In Particular. He enumerates four "things that are wrong":

"In any proceeding that involves the forcible removal of certain citizens from the community, anything less than a clear majority of the Board, or preferably unanimity, is not acceptable to the general public."

"Dr. John Sly, an acknowledged authority on New Jersey municipal government, has declared himself ineligible to participate in the discussion". (Dr. Sly, a member of the Planning Board who is on the Princeton faculty, abstained from all discussion and did not vote because of the conflict-of-interest presented by the University's connection with Palmer Square Inc., formerly Princeton Municipal Improvement.)

"Mr. Austin, an elected official of the Borough, has obstained from the decision, but now he is willing to vote, if another vote is taken. If not, his opinion on the subject will be one of the great secrets of modern times".

"With the elimination of the votes of Messrs Sly and Austin, the deciding ballot fell into the hand of Mr. Brokaw (Arthur Brokaw, Borough engineer) who, regardless of his professional qualifications, is a paid, appointed employee of the Borough who serves at the sufferance of the Mayor and Council. It is not likely that he will often vote against the Mayor. Hence, the Mayor has the equal of two votes in this decision, including the decisive one."

In General. Mr. Morgan says, in his letter, that since he gave a spontaneous speech on the future of Princeton at the second "blight" hearing, many people have approached him "on the street, on the phone, and by letter", and expressed their hope that he would serve as their spokesman. He quotes my remarks, were, in some way, a reflection of their aspirations for the future of the Borough of Princeton."

"I have, unwittingly, acquired a constituency, and with it a civic obligation which I cannot reject." Mr. Morgan states.

His general remarks express his belief that, although it may not be possible to arrest the growth of Greater Princeton "a good many people think that this is a very unfortunate phrase"), it would be possible to resist the expansion of business property parking, through streets and other facilities which are designed to meet not Princeton's needs, but the needs of the population explosion that is occuring all around Princeton.

Mr. Morgan is particularly concerned lest the expansion of streets and commercial facilities drive out lower end middle income residents of Princeton.

"It is clear to me," the former Mayor states, "that we have no obligation to provide more shopping space or parking space or driving space for the future residents of West Windsor or Lawrence Township who will then build their own shopping centers".

Mr. Morgan, who is a Democrat, was mayor of Princeton from 1946 to 1948, and it was he who appointed Mr. Beck to the Planning Board. The appointment was made in January, 1947.

SITE SELECTED

For Princeton Manor House. A 63-acre site on Elm Ridge Road in Hopewell Township, one mile south of Carter Road, has been selected for the proposed Princeton Manor House. The $5 million project will provide 364 apartments for retired people 55 years and over.

The non-profit, non-denominational corporation which plans to build the Manor House has already received applications for over 200 apartments. Of the 500 people who have expressed interest, there are some 100 Princeton University alumni, who are referring to the Manor House as the "Old Tigers Home."

Apartments in the Manor House will be purchased by the occupants, who will also pay a monthly charge to cover taxes, utilities, heat, maintenance and recreational facilities. Prices will range from $16,500 to $30,000.

Before construction can start, the site must receive zoning approval and be checked for utilities and drainage. It is hoped that ground will be broken by the end of this year, with completion then scheduled for sometime in 1963.

OFFICE SET AFIRE

In Nassau Inn. The walls and furniture of the office of George Washko, manager of the Nassau Inn on Palmer Square, were damaged by fire and intense heat Friday morning when sparks from a welder's torch ignited the room's draperies. A general alarm was sounded at 9:11.

Mr. Washko's office chair and desk and another desk were damaged by fire, and the walls, wooden paneling and Assessments Re - Assessed. Township Committee has returned the Sycamore Road assessments to the board of assessors for review, asking for reconsideration of the University assessment, the factors used in calculating the amounts owed, the assessments levied on corner lots, the problems presented by new lots (some of them below required size) which were opened up by the new street and the problem of drainage created by construction of the new road.

Committeeman William Marvel asked whether the Township could obtain an injunction against Kingston Trap Rock for creating a nuisance with its blasting. Attorney Gordon Griffin replied that such a procedure would involve an expensive and lengthy lawsuit. Committeeman John S. Mount expressed concern for the effect that blasting may have on electronics industries that are considering plants in the Township. He also said, that other municipalities were interested in controlling the blasting. Administrator Joseph Nini was instructed to write to neighboring townships and suggest a meeting to discuss the problem.

The Township Committee meeting scheduled for July 5 will be held on Thursday, July 6, and at that time, public hearings will be held on assessments for sidewalks on Sycamore Road, Magnolia-Brandpipple and South Harrison.

ACTION POSTPONED

On Housing Ordinance. The Township Planning Board has postponed the introduction of an ordinance setting specifications for multiple-dwelling units in the municipality. After consulting with its planning adviser, Jack M. Kendree and Associates, the Board announced that it felt the ordinance requires further study.

Factors which the Board hopes to consider more fully include density, land coverage, lot size, height and "row" as against "garden" apartments. A subcommittee of the board drafted the ordinance some time ago as part of the Township Master Plan. It has been under study by Kendree and Associates for about two and a half months.

The Board also noted that the problem is dependent on certain factors beyond its control, such as the role of multiple housing in the Borough Master Plan and the possible influx of non-Princeton residents to occupy any multiple-dwelling units which are built. Action on the ordinance will probably be taken sometime later this year.

POOLS TO OPEN

Playgrounds, Too. Play grounds and pools in Township and the Borough will open Monday and continue for nine weeks until August 25. The program is financed by the Borough, Township and United Community Fund.

The playgrounds and their directors are: High School, John Ryan; Erdman Avenue, Robert Sorenson; Harrison Street Park, Lawrence Ivan; Marquand Park, Mrs. Helen W. Geary; John Street, Mrs. Mary B. Moss; Pine Street, Jessie Hurd; Valley Road School, Robert W. Sinkler, Littlebrook School, James Briner; Grover Avenue, Thomas Murray; Riverside School, Anne Safran; and Johnson Park, Ronald Rouse. Mrs. Ann Lanahan will direct the arts and crafts program, starting July 5 and ending August 16.

With the exception of Marquand Park, the playgrounds will operate two sessions daily, Monday through Friday: A morning session from 9 to 12 and an afternoon program from 1 to 5. Marquand Park will operate from 9 to 11 in the morning and from 2 to 4 in the afternoon.

For children 10 and under, wading pools will be open daily from 1 to 5, Monday through Friday. Children under five must be accompanied. The Grover Avenue, Pine Street and John Street pools will also be open Saturday afternoons.

The playgrounds are open for children 6 to 16. The Erdman playground is for children 12 and under; those under six must be accompanied. Children under six are welcome, not eligible for arts and crafts. It is requested that dogs be kept at home.

WINNERS NAMED

In Art Exhibit. Judges awarded first place in the Jaycee Palmer Square Art Exhibit to two artists: Gerald F. Clark of Trenton for "Still Life" and Gloria Erlich, Littlebrook Road, for "Portrait of a Woman." In the popular balloting, first place went to J. J. Smith, 627 Kingston Road for "Would Be Artist". Mr. Smith received 23 votes, the highest number of the 363 that were cast.

Judges awarded honorable mention to John Thorpe, 117 McCosh Circle, 16-year-old artist, for "Webern: Opus 21" and "Transverse"; William Stellenwerf, Jr.; Joseph Bodner, Legore W. Cuylen and Mary Loomis Wilson.

CITY CHILDREN COMING

Through Fresh Air Fund. Under the auspices of the Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund, city children from 5 to 12 years old will arrive here next Thursday, June 29, for a two to four-week stay with a Princeton area family. Another group will come on July 13.

Those interested in having a child stay with them for two weeks following July 13 should call Mrs. John Thomas, WA 1-0936, Mrs. George Warfield, WA 4-3594, or Mrs. Benjamin McMahan, TW 6-9802, before the end of this month.

Person To Person

We were reading a report recently in which collectively we Americans have assets worth more than a trillion dollars, not including our personal things, such as our home appliances, fur coats, automobiles, and the like.

And that figure doesn't include the wealth of our nation, our town, state and Federal governments. A trillion dollars is a thousand billions: $1,000,000,000,000, which is really an inconceivable sum, and the figure is authentic, for it was compiled by the Institute of Life Insurance, from reports of the Federal Reserve Board and other such agencies.

These assets included only the holdings of individuals in stocks, bonds, mortgages, securities, bank accounts, shares in savings and loan associations, credit unions and savings bonds, pension funds, home and farm ownership, etc.

This figure does not include all the wealth invested in unincorporated businesses, which means much of all small business, which must be another trillion.

How in the world can Communism get an ideological leg to stand on, when confronted with such American facts? Only by twisting the truth, can they have any argument.

This reminds us that you'll be treated like a millionaire in our service department and like a wise man in our sales department. Let us demonstrate what we mean.

BOROUGH STATES POLICY

Go Parent-Paid Students. The Borough Board of Education, in its final meeting for 1960-1961 Tuesday night, clarified its policy towards students whose tuition is paid directly by their parents. It approved by a 4-2 vote a resolution dealing with the problem at both the high school and elementary school levels.

Under the new arrangement, students will be allowed to continue in Princeton High School on a parent-paid basis even though their district no longer sends pupils to PHS, providing their local Board of Education agrees. Otherwise parent-paid pupils will not be accepted at PHS, even if they have attended the Borough elementary schools with tuition paid by their parents.

Also, no new parent-paid students will be accepted in the elementary schools unless they would normally attend the high school because their district has a sending arrangement with PHS. As a special concession, the Board of Education will permit students who have just completed the eighth grade with their parents paying their tuition to attend PHS.

Graham Rohrer, president of for one year.

The Board of Education, explained that the resolution was prepared carefully, keeping in mind the announced intent of the Board to keep the enrollment of PHS at the 1800-student mark. The very fact that there were two dissenting votes in a body which normally operates unanimously indicated the importance of the decision.

New Nassau Street Hours. In other action, the Board approved new and slightly longer hours for the Nassau Street School. Beginning September all classes will attend on 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. morning session and a 12:30 to 3 p.m. afternoon session.

In the past, the morning session lasted until as late as 11:45 for the upper grades, with the afternoon session not beginning until 1 p.m. Dr. Chester B. Stroup, superintendent of schools, explained that the new schedule would compensate for the recent additions in subject matter, would ease carpool problems for drivers carrying children in different classes and would make the afternoon kinder garten session more nearly equal to the morning session.

The Board also named William Evans, who was elected to the body last February, secretary of the Board to replace Irving W. Mershon, who has retired after 30 years of service.

It accepted the resignations of Mrs. Shirley Love, history and English teacher at PHS, and of John R. Arscott, English teacher at PHS for the past 24 years and head of the English department since 1947.

Finally, on the suggestion of Dr. Stroup, the Board voted to keep the High School guidance department open through the summer. The superintendent explained that the arrangement, estimated to cost about $1500, would be valuable for students with problems arising from the end of the academic year or for new students wishing to plan a program of study.

LEADERSHIP NEEDED

Rohrer Tells PHS Seniors. Graham Rohrer, president of the Borough Board of Education, told Princeton High School seniors that they should and could provide the leadership the United States will need during the coming decades. Mr. Rohrer spoke at commencement exercises for the 354 seniors held on Harris Field behind the High School.

"Never was there a more critical need for leadership. never before were there so many opportunities for so many different kinds of skills —in science, in the humanities, in politics and in business," he said. The Board of Education president added that the way out was not to rely on time alone to erase "the problems that confront us as individuals and as a nation of free peoples."

Instead, he suggested that these problems provided opportunities for action. "Everyone of you men and women can be a leader in whatever occupation you choose. Each of you can know the success of fruitful and meaningful contributions to the world of tomorrow."

Advising the members of the Class of 1961 to have faith in themselves, he concluded by pointing out that the seniors had "the exciting prospect of translating the spectacular developments in the realm of science into a better way of life for all the peoples of the world."

Scholars Named. Also at the graduation ceremony, Elizabeth Byers and Hans Winterstein were named scholars.

AND ABOUT TIME, TOO! Summer vacation began Wednesday for Township school children, and none too soon for most of them. The 1961 school year stretched farther into summer than any previous school year because of days lost to winter snows. State law requires 180 days of school. Saying a happy farewell to Littlebrook School are Robert Moore and Alison Yard, both fourth-going-into-fifth graders. (Staff Photo)

CAR OWNERS BESET

By Fire, Blue Paint. A fire on the front seat of a car owned by Ferdinand P. Schoettle of Province Line Road was extinguished Friday evening by Sgt. Randolph Applegate and Pfc. John Markuson of the Borough Police.

The car had been parked on Witherspoon Street near Nassau. The driver's side of the front seat was damaged before the officers could put out the fire with the patrol car extinguisher.

Sunday afternoon, Borough and Township police collaborated in extinguishing a fire in a car belonging to G. B. Hudson of Westfield, N. J. The entire ignition and wiring system of the car, parked on Cedar Lane, was burned out. A nearby resident, Borough Clerk Robert Mooney of 46 Cedar Lane, reported the fire.

News Of The THEATRES

THEATRE, AFTER ALL, Summer Group to Play. Ten plays will be given this summer in the gymnasium of Princeton Country Day School by The Princeton Players, a group formed by three members of the University's Theatre Intime. The Players' producers are John Crowther, former president of Triangle Club who has acted in Intime productions, Joseph Fitchett, Intime president, and Paul Glickler, Intime vice-president.

The season will open on Monday, July 3, with two Shaw works, "Dark Lady of the Sonnets" and "Great Catherine," directed by Phillip Minot.

Following the opening productions the theatre will schedule its performances for Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with curtain - time Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday at 8 30 and Friday and Saturday at 9.

Subsequent productions will be "I Am a Camera," by John Van Druten; "Endgame" by Samuel Beckett; an unnamed farce; an Ibsen play; two one-act plays, "The Maids" by Genet and "Penelope" by Francis Furgusson; "Romeo and Jeanette" by Anouilh and Sartre's "The Flies."

Prices will be $2 for mid-week and Sunday performances and $2 25 for Friday and Saturday nights. A limited number of season tickets, good for six plays, will be available at $9.

Sponsors of the group are Stuart Duncan, Allan Lerner and Dore Schary. The company will consist, in part, of Ted D'Arms, Maria Tucci, Sally Kempton, Tyler Gatchell, Bill Pierce and Emery Battis.

Those interested in working with The Princeton Players in any capacity may obtain information by calling the producers at Princeton Country Day School.

ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY: Rock Hudson, Dorothy Malone, Kirk Douglas and Carol Lynley live it up in "The Last Summer," at the Playhouse now through Tuesday.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Last Sunset (May 21-27) has a plot that is, for a western, awesomely complicated. Disdaining a simple, straight forward conflict between the picture's two strong men, Rock Hudson and Kirk Douglas, screenwriter Dalton Trumbo has produced a story which has all the twistings and turnings of a Dumas novel. Not only are there all the usual ingredients for a western (villain, marshal, cattle drive, Indians) but also some elements which are more often associated with the soap opera (three men, older woman and daughter, many romantic complications!

Required to wind their ways through this maze of a plot the principals fail to show any particular talent. Besides Hudson and Douglas, there are Joseph Cotton, as the drunken rancher in Mexico, Dorothy Malone, his wife and Carol Lynley, her daughter. Moviegoers who like westerns for their scenery rather than the plot will be happy to know that this 112-minute production is in Eastman color.

Parrish (June 28-July 4) tries to prove that the South isn't the only decadent part of the country by focusing on some rather unsavory goings-on in the Tobacco Valley of Connecticut. Although it effectively proves this point, "Parrish" also demonstrates that shifting "Tobacco Road" to the Connecticut Valley doesn't necessarily produce a good movie. In fact, the end result is little more than a star-studded nothing.

Based on a novel by Mildred Savage, it is the tale of Parrish McLean's (Troy Donahue) progress towards manhood, with most of the emphasis on his involvement with Lucy Howie (Connie Stevens), Allison Post (Diane McBain) and Paige Raike (Sharon Hugueny), in that order. While Parrish is busy working in the tobacco fields and making love his mother (Claudette Colbert) plays chaperone to Diane and strikes up a friendship with a local wheel, Judd Raike (Karl Madden).

The acotrs (three of them have won Oscars) and the beautiful setting should make for a fine movie, but the plot and inept screenplay prevent this. Ironically, the overall effect is not unlike that produced by a recent western, "One-Eyed Jacks."

THE GARDEN

A Raisin in the Sun (June 22-24) is a good, well-acted and well-produced drama. Possibly the reason it does not evidence the shortcomings of many current Hollywood pro-

IT'S NEW To Us

WHAT'LL WE DO NOW?

There is more than one Carsick kind of motion sickness, as parents well know. Take for example the kind of acute travel boredom that turns docile back-seat passengers into snarling little savages and makes a long-distance driving anything but a holiday.

Stuff 'n Nonsense, the toy shop on Moore Street, suggests several tranquilizers for children imprisoned in the rear of station wagons. One is Scribble Scratch, a 15-inch square frame which holds a roll of white shelf-paper stretched taut so that you can write, draw or scribble on it. As the paper is used, you just roll down more until the roll is all gone and then you stop at a store and buy some more.

Underneath the paper to give you something to write against, is a blackboard, which means that you can fiddle around with colored chalk if you are tired of white paper. A shallow drawer under the frame holds the essentials, $3.

Dotty Dolls are flat, felt "paper" dolls supplied with ready-cut colored felt dresses and little punched out circles of colored felt to stick on for decoration. The basic dresses are numerous and the bits of felt decoration are very nearly endless, and this ought to keep little fingers happy for a long time, unless the box of felt spills on the floor of the car.

Betsy McCall, a seven inches, now has lots and lots of costumes including a ravishing chiffon ballet costume, a riding outfit, an ice-skating skirt with stretch tights no less, a terry bathing suit in the highest style, a yellow slicker for rain and some seductive pajamas. The basic starter set, $2.95, includes the doll, underwear, and three pairs of shoes and stockings. (The extra shoe-and-stockings angle was obviously thought up by a mother who was tired of hunting behind sofa pillows.)

A picnic basket for the very young contains two each of plastic cups, saucers, plates, glasses, knives, forks and napkins, and is just the right size, once these utensils are removed, to make a summer handbag for mother. Better pick up the $3 sewing basket, too; it's small enough for a young girl to cope with, but completely stocked with thread, floss, tools and the space to store half-sewn doll clothes.

Playskool now has block puzzles consisting of nine three-inch cubes, each side of which has a different piece of an animal-giraffe, elephant, hippo and so on. The puzzles also come in trucks (match or mix the ice-cream truck, dump truck, etc.) and nursery stories (arrange the blocks in sequence to tell the story).

Child Guidance has a new little plastic train, bright as paint in red, yellow and blue, with lots of curving, looping grey track and supports for a bridge and four competent little cars, $2. To match, there is a roundhouse, with meshing gears that you turn to bring the train to the right track. A snorting black work-horse engine and ore come with this $2 set.

Playskool's new village, tumbled into a drew-string sack, has a foundation piece of canvas with streets all laid out, and a floor plan showing - - - or rather, suggesting - - - what buildings to put where. Roofs, cars, trucks, churches, flat all-purpose foundations are all included. Want to play urban renewal?

NEW POTTER IN TOWN

Stoneware. A collection of pottery, turned with a fine, professional hand, designed in low-key colors and shapes with subtle touches of artistry and originality, is now on view and on sale at Princeton Gourmet.

The vases, bowls and jars are the work of Sally Henning-

A Friendly Monkey

Know anybody who's likely to be broke at camp? Stuff 'n Nonsense has the perfect companion.

He's a soft, bright green monkey with eyes right shut in sleep and curving, affectionate arms that wrap around a small forearm or even around a neck. The wrap-around is achieved by making the arms our of strong, spring-hinged metal bends, covered with a soft, bright green pile. Lay the sleeping monkey on your arm and wrap his arms around you. Now he's secret and he will snooze close to you all night, without rolling out of the top bunk.

More secure campers can wrap him around the tent pole as though he were climbing, or give him a milk-bottle to embrace. He's about eight inches long.

Ion Kunstadter of Princeton, graduate of Cranbrook Art School near Detroit and ceramist who has exhibited in the America House Craft Museum as well as in a traveling exhibition arranged by Syracuse University.

Mrs. Kunstadter mixes her own glazes and fires her pottery at a high temperature to produce a kind of stoneware. Inside the jars or dishes that will be used for cooking or for flowers, she has applied (sometimes with a syringe, in narrow necked vases) a shiny protective glaze.

Many of the jars have a tiny, lipped neck, others a wide mouth to receive bouquets of flowers. On one eighteen vase, the ceramist has etched through the rough white glaze to the pale pod beneath in an over-all pattern of scribbled circles that look like crushed roses. Another in this one round and fat, has small curls of thin, bright blue embedded in the darkness of a charcoal surface.

Feathers swirl gently to follow the outline of a wide-mouthed vase with a narrow base. Several four-inch vases have been pock-marked through dark stone colors so that dots of blue or jade show through to give a lift to the darkness of the top glaze. These little vases, priced from $5, are delightful pieces, simple in shape but sophisticated in texture and shading.

Aside from the vases, there are teapots, salad bowls and shallow bowls and a vine-holder with five holes, like a bowling ball. A greyed jade teapot (four cup) has willow-like branches laid in an almost invisible cloud over its surface. Four handle-less cups match the squat little pot. A bowl of blue-greens and blue has plumes and circles in pale blue with light scratches over the blue to provide highlights. A shallow bowl in powder blue has random circles of lighter blue, and a curious finish that is both rough and luminous.

The pottery collection ranges in price from $5 for the little

PEAKS AND VALLEYS: The high and low spots of high school are recalled by Robert Adams, Carolyn Smith and Martin Lombardo. For what Princeton High School graduates will miss the most, and the least, see below. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: After four years, what are you going to miss the most about high school? The least?

Where asked: Graduation rehearsal for PHS Class of 1961.

Robert Adams, 500 Mercer Road: The fun of school and all my great friends are what I'll miss the most. Having to get up in the morning, the least.

Carolyn Smith, 106 Crestview Drive: The least: clothesmindedness; the most, the friendship of the greatest kids in the world.

Martin Lombardo, 329 Nassau Street: I'll miss most the student body and the great organization of activities at Princeton High School. The great support at Princeton High behind all athletic activities by the administration. The great emphasis here on education. In my mind, there wouldn't be anything I'd miss the least because Princeton High School is the greatest school in the world.

Trudy Rogers, 580 Lake Drive: I'll miss least graduation exercises and gym class. The most: Mr. Drulis.

John Novatkoski, Clarksville Road: Nothin'.

Bill Wilson, 225 Jefferson Road: The thing I'll miss the most, of course, are my friends, the companionship, getting to know and understand people. So far as what I would miss the least, insofar as college is concerned, I'll be glad to get into a more academic atmosphere.

Judy Obinger, 85 W. Prospect Street, Hopewell: The kids the most, and the teachers the least.

Dave Naistat, 25 Canoe Brook Drive, West Windsor: I think I'll miss the informal atmosphere at the high school and the interest the teachers take in your work. They don't have time to do this, I understand in college. I'll miss least some of the rulings which I haven't always agreed with on certain school activities. From what I've heard, there is more independence in college.

Carol Cruser, 67 W. Broad Street, Hopewell: The most: Mr. Drulis, vice-principal. Also cooking and sewing and the home economics department. I'll miss homework the least.

John Rogerson, 2 Colonial Avenue, Princeton Junction: The most I'll miss is knowing so many kids. Princeton is a fairly small school and you get to know more classmates. Least: report cards.

John Lindstrom, Drakes Corner Road: The pigeons in the senior tower are what I'll miss the least. My friends are what I'll miss the most.

Judy Feldman, 11 Millbrook Lane, Trenton: I'll miss all the kids and Miss Gibson. The least: homework.

Pepper Constable, Rosedale Road: Football and basketball games the most. Seventh-period French, the least.

Heather Houghton, 606 Kingston Road: The kids the most; homework the least.

James Woodward, 27 Southern Way: I guess I'll miss my friends the most and memorizing French poetry the least.

KOREANS SAY "THANKS"

For Children's Clothing. Two Korean orphanages have expressed their thanks to the Americans who sent them 3,500 pounds of clothing and shoes for children.

The clothes were collected in Princeton, Lawrenceville and Trenton by Mrs. Sheldon B. Wells, 600 Lawrenceville Road, whose husband, a major with the 82nd Artillery in Korea, had written to her outlining the desperate needs of the Korean orphans. The garments were sent to Korea after they were collected and boxed, through the efforts of Mrs. D.W. McGowan, Eggerts Crossing, wife of the chief of staff of the Air National Guard.

In a letter of thanks, Sung Chol Pak, director of Sam-Kwang Orphenage, writes:

"Dear People: We have been appreciated for your charitable assistance that have been offered to us. With a hope to promote mutual understanding and to raise the living standard of people who suffered from the starvation and destruction caused by war. The orphans are very glad to wear clothes that had been sent through Major Wells, with a spirit of charity and have with a great pains pioneered the road of democracy for the peace and liberty of mankind, will be remembered forever.

"I am very pleased to tell you that those orphans who are keeping unforgettable love and help which hes come from God-believing friends who are away from thousands of miles will be someday great constructors of the newly form Republic of Korea...I thank you again for your help both done spiritually and materially and wish you success and luck."

The second orphanage, the Kwang Orphanage, sent its thanks in a letter written in Korean. Originally, the clothing was collected for one orphanage, but there was so much that it was divided between two.

READY, TEENS?

There will also be cookouts, splash parties, dances, a trip to New Hope on a barge, a baseball game in New York, an all-day beach party, a Hewitian Luau and a trip to the Lambertville Music Circus.

On the night of July 7, the program will be launched with a "Key to Summer Fun" gathering at which prizes will be awarded to those holding keys that fit a treasure chest. To register or to obtain additional information, call WA 4-4825. Mrs. Martin Lewis and Charles Hurford are chairmen of the Teen Departments.

Three young women from Princeton have enrolled as students at Katharine Gibbs Gibbs School, New York. Kathleen E. Ellis, Trinity Road, Farms, a graduate of Princeton High School, will be resident student in the liberal arts secretarial course. Elizabeth St. Orrison, Drake's Corner Road, a graduate of the Nightingale-Bamford High School, is enrolled in the one-year secretarial course, and Nancy K. Strasser, also a graduate of Princeton High School, is in the one-year secretarial course that begins on June 10. The other two students will begin their studies on September 19.

Dr. Heinz Heinemann, 52 Linden Lane, has been appointed manager of technical development by the M.W. Kellogg Company, New York. A subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., Kellogg will manage the chemical research and chemical and mechanical engineering development activities of the company. M.W. Kellogg is a world-wide engineering and construction organization. Dr. Heinemann joined the research staff in 1957.

Miss Rosalind Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Webster of 35 Boudinot Street, has graduated with general honors from Wellesley College. Earlier this year, Miss Webster was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, the national academic honor society.

Awards in athletics have been received by three residents of Princeton. David Sunset, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Smoyer, 86 Olden Lane, won a letter in tennis from the athletic department at Dartmouth. Hugh D. Wise, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Wise, 7 Wedgwood Road, won freshman numerals in lacrosse at Princeton and John T. Woodward, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Woodward, 15 Hodge Road, won a varsity letter in lacrosse.

George S. Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Mason, 10 Howe Circle, was graduated from The Hill School, Pottstown, Pa., in recent commencement ceremonies. Mason was a member of the school's Cum Laude Society.

doctors in that book the story and almost everyone associated with the movie have been recruited from other media. The story itself comes from a play by the same name which won the Drama Critics Circle Award in New York, of course. Almost the entire cast was carried over from the stage play. One of the producers and the director were brought in from television, while the other producer was recruited from the legitimate theatre. Sidney Poitier is back in his brilliant role as the woman caught in the middle of both family and racial tension. Claudia McNeil portrays his mother, Ruby Dee his wife and Diane Sands, his sister. These and the other members of the Chicago cast reflect to tell the dramatic story of Walter Negro family in Chicago and its problems with money and integration.

The Secret Partner (June 26-28) is a British mystery which, although lacking some of the subtle humour often found on the other side of the Atlantic, manages to keep the viewer wondering until the very end. The caper involves John Brent (Stewart Granger), a rising executive with a shipping firm, and his wife, Nicole (Yaya Harareet).

Interestingly, the always-inventive British have managed to come up with a new villain—a dentist! Now what is a more perfect profession for a villain? The dentist blackmails Brent and in turn is forced by an even wilder individual to use a truth serum to get information from Brent. All get involved in a robbery, and then the fun begins.

In brief, it is a relatively good, although by no means fine, mystery. At least it does not pretend to be anything a definite feeling of depth but because things happen a bit more slowly than normal, it also gives a dreamlike effect. The second process "Circuscope" which is used in "Bimbo the Great," is much less spectacular and seems designed more to fit the subject matter than to describe a revolutionary technique.

On the basis of content, "The Fabulous World of Jules Verne" is by far the more interesting. Although it is not one of Verne's stories, it mixes many of his ideas (submarines, huge balloons, missiles, etc.) into a manufactured plot involving the kidnapping of an 18th century scientist by a modern villain. Verne's foresight is discussed by Hugh Downs, better known for his work on television, in a three-minute prologue.

"Bimbo the Great" is a more run-of-the-mill production. The circus scenes and musical numbers are designed intended for the children while a story of a framed lion tamer (Bimbo) who turns to drink, losses his position and then tries to make a come-back, is intended for adults.

We're proud of our Billion Dollar Company

This month Manufacturers Life became one of the 20 major North American life insurance companies whose assets exceed one billion dollars. But such a milestone in growth has meaning only in terms of human endeavor, of goals and accomplishments, of principles and dedication to them.

The part played in this success story by our policyowners is an excellent illustration. These are the men and women whose basic human desire for financial security for their families and themselves led to the purchase of life insurance in this Company. Our assets are their savings. We are deeply conscious of the trust placed in us to invest these funds soundly and profitably on their behalf and later to make them available in times of emergency or need.

We are sure they share with us the pride of being associated with a billion dollar company.

ART IS LONG AND TIME IS FLEETING: The many and varied faces of art were on display for all Princeton to see Friday and Saturday when the Jaycees mounted their annual exhibit of Princeton art works. Mrs. Ruth McVey will serve as camp director, assisted by three college girls and six high school students. These include Ruth Marie Perry, Ann Schmidt, Susan Barenholtz, Susan Lewis, Judity Canior, Bonnie Barron, Kathy Layton, Bonnie Kimball and Betsy Quarles.

Each of the two camp sessions will include arts and crafts, swimming lessons, songs, cookouts and a trip. Registrations are being accepted at the YWCA office.

PAINTING CLASSES SET

At Studio-on-the Canal. Summer painting classes for children and teen-agers will begin Wednesday at the Studio-on-the-Canal. The classes, which will continue through August, are scheduled for every Wednesday.

Younger children (ages 7 to 10) will attend morning classes, while teen-agers (12 and up) will meet in the afternoon and will work in oil or water color. The classes will be limited so that each child receives individual instruction.

LACK OF COURAGE HIT.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

There is a great deal of talk and attention given to William Shirer's book "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich" and to the Eichmann trial.

Having lived in Germany during the entire era, I frequently get asked: How could this happen? Why didn't people do anything about it? —Finally the subject is dismissed with, "Well, anyway, this could never happen here in the United States.

Couldn't it?

In this year's university parade, one of the classes, with a large contingent of alumni, marched behind the sign "I like Eich." It seems that nobody either in that particular class or among the bystanders — had enough courage to ask for the removal of this sign, which was a slap in the face of those 6 million people who perished in Eichmann's camps.

This same lack of courage on the part of the German "mitlaeufer" gave Hitler his chance.

Perhaps I am oversensitive to manifestations of this kind in this country. But, afterall, I too once stood at the sidelines and thought ridiculing and persecuting a minority group in public to be "terribly funny". At the time I was ten years old. Today, after having seen what these "funny" happenings in Germany led to, I am very concerned about evidence of equal lack of courage in the United States of America.

ADULTS CHASTISED
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Last night I attended the Princeton High School Commencement, which was a travesty on the dignity and beauty such an event should represent. At the outset, during and previous to the processional, the invited guests talked like backyard gossips, totally ignoring the efforts of the band, which undoubtedly had many rehearsels in preparation for our listening pleasure. Also, while they played, various people stood to view the remotely approaching seniors, some even holding up an enclosed thumb and finger to signify approval.

The administration is to be congratulated on their careful planning through productive, repeated rehearsals, well laid out parking provisions, erudite, well written and ably presented speeches, chalk-marked and lighted steps. The physical arrangement presented an impressive sea of young faces surrounded by a curtain of blue on the bleachers, all enhanced by the background of ever-changing sky behind them.

And yet we sat there depriving the graduating class of their big moment of enchantment, pretending that we need not show that degree of deference always demonstrated at an indoors ceremony.

There are moments when I am ashamed to be a member of the adult world.

A CHAGRINED MOTHER

CARE a Great Asset.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS: In a time when our country's international reputation seems to be eroding away, what I learned when I traveled to Europe this spring as a member of the Vicks-CARE Crusade seems doubly significant. This unique good will mission was sponsored jointly by the Vicks Chemical Company and CARE and was composed of two delegates from each of the 50 states.

Our itinerary included Rome, Athens, Istanbul and Paris. In each of these places, we visited CARE projects.

I learned that CARE functions whenever possible through established local organizations with the principle objective of furthering their self-help and rehabilitation programs.

CARE's field representatives assess the needs and worthwhile projects and then implement them by concrete donations. We saw CARE tools being used in a Greek trade school, CARE X-Ray equipment in a Turkish mobile medical unit, etc.

The manner in which CARE goes about this work is, it seems to me, as important as the work itself. I was deeply impressed by the caliber of the CARE personnel and their attitude toward the people they deal with. Clearly, respect as well as understanding is an integral part of their working equipment.

In the brief space of a letter I cannot express how touched I was by the warmth and genuine good feeling we met as representatives of CARE. I believe this reflects the atmosphere CARE workers have generated as much as it does gratitude for material benefits.

I have come home convinced that the dollars we give to CARE will not only be helping the needy in other countries but strengthing our country's reputation as well.

TIGER TEAMS IMPROVE

As Five Titles Are Won. A won-lost average of .610 for Princeton athletic teams during the past year reflects a sharp upswing in the Tigers' ability to top the tell-tale break-even point. A year ago, they were pegged at .537.

The current figure is one of the best compiled during the post-war era and is based on 105 victories, 67 defeats and a lone tie Freshman teams, representing the Class of 1964, were slightly more effective, winning 77, losing 47 and tying two for .621.

Against Ivy League opposition, Princeton was particularly effective against five of its traditional rivals but could not stay even with Harvard and Yale. The Crimson achieved the greatest success in its varsity contests with the Tigers, winning 11 and losing seven, while Yale won 11 and dropped nine

Princeton was well over the .500 mark against the other five Ivy members. Its won-lost record with them: Brown, 9-2; Columbia, 11-3; Cornell, 12-3; Dartmouth, 7-5; Pennsylvania, 10-6

In contrast to the year ending in June 1960, when only two team championships were won, the Tigers took five in the past 12 months for one of their top performances. At least one title came Princeton's way in each season.

The trend began in the fall, when Jimmy Reed's soccer team won the Ivy championship before the season ended. In the winter, Jake McCandless replaced Cappy Cappon when the latter was felled by a heart attack and steered the basketball team to a second straight Ivy title It marked the first time that Princeton had won back-to-back championships in the sport.

The spring season brought a bumper crop of titles to the Orange and Black, producing three when only one had been expected. Ferris Thomsen's lacrosse team retained its top spot on the Ivy ladder winning the championship for the fifth straight year.

Fine teams, too, represented Princeton in golf and tennis. Harry Kinnell's entry in the Eastern Intercollegiates won by the sizeable margin of 18 strokes to bring the Tigers their first golf championship in more than a dozen years. In tennis, John Conroy's extremely deep team turned back all comers in the Eastern Association to give Princeton its first title in this sport since 1953.

TIGERS TENTH AGAIN

In Rowing at Syracuse. For the second year in a row, Princeton placed far down the line in the Intercollegiate Rowing Association regatta staged Saturday on Lake Onondaga at Syracuse. The Orange and Black oarsmen again finished tenth in a field of 13, with victory going to California, defending champion, by half a length over Cornell.

Princeton was an early leader in the three-mile race, but was overtaken by California with a half-mile gone. The Tigers slipped farther back as the race progressed, eventually beating only Dartmouth, Rutgers and Columbia

The Princeton junior varsity was seventh among 11 entries in the junior varsity event, which was won by Cornell. In the freshman race, Princeton was fifth out of a dozen crews, with Washington the victor

No success marked another mid-June venture for the Tigers, Dick Edmunds was shut out in the qualifying heat of the 440 in the NCAA meet at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. His effort of 47 seconds for the quarter-mile was not quite good enough to take him into the finals, and hopes for a berth on the United States team which will go to Moscow this summer appear dim

PHS DECLARED WINNER

In Disputed Game. On April 20, the Princeton High School baseball team lost its opener of the 1961 season to Trenton Catholic when the Wave scored two runs on a disputed play in the sixth inning to win, 3-2. At the end of the game, TC coach George Malone came over to Harry Zoll, PHS coach, and said, "We didn't deserve to win."

Zoll agreed with Malone. The latest to agree is the Mercer County Umpires Association who, after reviewing the game, has declared PHS the winner over Trenton, 2-1. The delayed victory raises the Little Tiger's final record to 7-9 instead of 6-10

Third Strike Debated. The dispute centered over a third strike. His team behind by two runs in the sixth, with two out and a baserunner on second, TC batter Bill Woolverton swung and missed at the next pitch for the third out The ball hit about four inches in front of him and was "short-hopped" by PHS catcher Dave Lanning

The batter and baserunner started to leave the diamond as the teams began to change sides. Acting quickly, Malone who thought Woolverton had to be tagged out ordered the baserunner to touch third and head home, and sent Woolverton on a tour around the bases. Before Zoll and his puzzled players knew what was happening, umpire Charles Lee signaled two runs had scored.

In answer to Zoll's question if he had called Woolverton out, Umpire Lee said, "No. I called 'strike three' " The action of TC players starting to take the field constituted, Zoll felt, interference and he protested the game.

The Umpires Association has now ruled that the ball was dead after Woolverton swung at it, and since the next batter flied out to end the inning, Princeton High was declared the winner.

GIANTS TAKE SERIES

Win YMCA Midget Title. The Palmer Square Giants downed Hulit's Yankees 13-5 and 5-0 last week to win the World Series of the YMCA Midget League. The second game was postponed a day because of rain.

Billy McQuade went all the way in the first game with a little support from his teammates in the form of a nine-run third inning Tommy Butterfoss shut out the Giants in the second game.

William Barclay managed the victorious Giants John Fitzpatrick and Tim Madden were co-managers for the Yankee

RCA RETAINS LEAD

In Business Softball League. Victory over Applied Science Corporation added to RCA Labs lead in the Princeton Business Softball League. The pac setters now have a 6-1 mark, with runner-up ETS pegged at 4-2

In trimming ASCOP, 17 to 5 RCA banged out 21 hits, Al Perna, Bill Roth and Vic Christiano collecting three apiece Jerry Shaheen and Bill Ehnot weighed in with home runs

ETS dropped two games while winning one last week It split with Rohrens Movers while losing to Opinion Research on its new field

In an 8-6 victory over Bohrens, ETS came from behind when Bert King doubled to bring his team even and then scored the tie-breaking run. He also took over on the mound to nail down the decision in relief

Hercules Powder and Opinion Research were rained out of their game last week The standings show that ORC was in third place with a 3-2 record as the week began followed by ASCOP, 4-3; Bohrens, 2-5 and Hercules Powder 0-6

PAC WINS FIRST

Tops Montgomery with Rally. Bruce Sandvik won his own game with a squeeze bunt Friday to give the Princeton Athletic Club a good star in the 1961 Tri-County Baseball League race. Gary Grover raced across the plate on the Princeton pitcher's accurate stickwork with the run that topped Montgomery Township 1960 champion.

The visitors had taken a 3-0 lead in the third but Princeton drew even in its half of the inning. Singles by Billy Moore, Tommy Petrone, Grover and Jack Lackey evened the count.

In the last of the fifth, Grover walked. Moore's bunt single sent him all the way to third and Sandvick's squeeze brought him home. PAC added an insurance marker in the sixth. Sandvick allowed only four hits and was backed by errorless ball.

South Brunswick will provide the opposition on Bill Clarke Field Thursday night at 6:15. Next Thursday, Hightstown will play here

MAKE MINE LISBON

Around the Neck. There are families we know whose liquor supply never remains in the bottle long enough to be decanted into a decanter, but for families who are not quite so spongy, The Silver Shop on Palmer Square has a unique collection of silver decanter labels to hang around the neck of a rum-pot or a brandy dandy.

The oldest label in the collection dates to 1742. It's a "Rum" sign fashioned in London by John Polloch. From the time of George IV comes a pair of labels, "Sherry" and "Madeira", made by William King, also in London in 1828. A "Madeira" and "Hellands" pair were made about the same time in Glasgow by Phillip Grierson. "Hellands," of course, is gin. One 1793, the other 1814.

Two of the silver markers, read "Lisbon," reflecting the old name for port. John Parker is the silversmith who made the later one.

These labels very somewhat in design and pattern: the oldest has a graceful shell and scroll border, a "port" has finely engraved capital letters against a perfectly plain, gleaming silver ground, gently curving at the sides. This one is probably the largest in the collection, measuring some two inches across. Most of the others are standard size, and many are severe little rectangles with a sober, engraved margin rather than a decorative border.

Aside from the "Lisbon" and the "Hellands", the most unusual labels are "White wine" and "Sweet wine", the former wrought by James Lloyd in London in 1816 and the latter so old that its hallmark is no longer legible; a single dangling letter "M" to identify Victorian Madiera, and an "Irish Whiskey" with the letters punched out of the silver. Prices range from $8 for an individual label, up to $85 for one particularly fine set of three.

"where thousands save millions"

DEAR TRAVELEX,

After our big night "on the town", London Town, that is we'll sleep late the next morning. Not too late, though, because I for one, want to go to church at Westminster Abbey on Sunday, October 8. After that I think I'll just walk around and look and feel. I think I'll go to Hyde Park and see what they've got to say. Then I'll go across the street back to the Grosvenor House and have lunch.

Monday morning You have planned a sight seeing trip of the East End through Trafalgar Square (National Gallery), the Financial District, (Bank of England) St. James Palace, Changing of the Guard, Victoria Embankment, Queen Victoria Street, Eastcheap, London Bridge, the Tower of London and all the places we've heard about and read about for so long and haven't seen yet!

I'm so excited I can hardly stand to think about it!!
